Dr. Southworth's Chinaman.

A good deal of talk has been indulged in because Dr. Southworth was compelled through the sickness of his wife to employ a Chinaman in his house. It was claimed that he did not want any other help. Yesterday a white girl applied for work and he discharged the Chinaman on the spot to give the white girl work. He always said that he would make the change just as soon as white help was obtainable which is as much as the League ought to exact of any one.

There are plenty of other families in the city now employing Chinese help who would only be glad to secure the services of a white girl in the kitchen.

Celebrate! Decorate!!

Carwin & Noteware have received the choicest selection of fire works ever brought to the city; all fresh from the Laboratory of the California Fireworks Company. Also flags of all sizes and without number, Japanese lanterns and other decorative goods, which they propose to sell at prices that defy competition.

THE TROUBLE WITH DAN CORBETT.

A False and M. Heinous Statement Replied to.

On Friday last the editor of the APPEAL had a personal encounter with Dan Corbett, who keeps the saloon opposite the Mint. Since the encounter, in which Corbett received some rather severe injuries on the face, the APPEAL has made no mention of the affair, as the other papers were giving pretty full accounts of the trouble. The following appeared in the Chronicle of Monday evening:

A correspondent writing to the Chronicle from Carson, claiming to have been an eye witness of the recent fistic encounter at Carson, between S. P. Davis, editor of the APPEAL, and Dan Corbett, father of the editor of The Boys, says that the trouble arose through the objection of the members of the g. o. p. to having a Democratic paper published at the capital, and in order to crush it staked Sam Davis to purchase a half interest. After acquiring an interest Davis insisted on publishing exclusively Republican editorials. The correspondent says: "This refusal led to the trouble. Mr. Corbett was not struck until first tripped by Davis. He then received a blow while down, and that with brass knuckles or some other hard substance. I think that had Mr. Davis received the blows he did get in the same place that Mr. Corbett did he would have made an excellent subject for the 'Horrible' procession which is to be given here on the 3rd of July."

The above statement, which is wholly untrue, calls for a reply. We had supposed under the circumstances surrounding the trouble, that Mr. Corbett would have the sense to keep his mouth closed, like his eye, but having allowed some one to rush into print in the matter he has only himself to blame if the affair becomes more fully ventilated. It happened as follows:

Some time ago Mr. Robert Merigold asked our advice about purchasing a half interest in a newspaper called "The Boys." We told him he could make a few dollars, and on this he purchased. A week or so ago he said he was sick of his bargain and wanted us to take it off his hands. The paper by this time had become offensively personal in its character, and we decided to purchase a half interest and see that the paper was differently run. We did so, and paid $20 for Merigold's interest.

On Friday we called at the office, and while having some conversation with Lee about the paper Dan Corbett, his father, came in, and closing the door began abusing us and challenging us to fight. Placing his back to the door he squared off and used epithets not necessary to repeat in print. He then struck a blow, leading with his right; a bad thing to do under the circumstances, as it gave a fine opening. A moment later the affair was changed to a rough-and-tumble proposition, and this was kept up about a minute.

During the row Lee Corbett was industriously hammering the back of our head. His work, however, did not amount to any more than the badly-delivered blows of Dan Corbett.

Before the row was over some one kicked us in the spine. The injury was slight, but it showed the cowardly disposition of the foot behind it.

When the crowd came in through a smashed door, Dan Corbett got up a slid down stairs. It is not for us to make any statements regarding the present size of his head; it is still on exhibition at the Corbett saloon, and will be there for some time yet.

He simply wanted to lick somebody, and blocked the door so that his victim should not get away. In so doing he placed himself on the wrong side of the door.

Yesterday morning a dispatch was sent to the Virginia Chronicle asking the name of the person who had sent the correspondence charging the editor of the APPEAL with using brass knuckles. The following came in response:

VIRGINIA CITY, June 29. S. P. DAVIS:—Authority, W. L. Corbett. Will write you tonight.

PLANT. Yesterday we had a conversation with Lee Corbett who wrote or sent the letter to the Chronicle.

It was as follows: "You charge me with using brass knuckles on your father. Is that so?"

"I never claimed you had brass knuckles. I said brass knuckles or something equally hard."

"What did you mean by something equally hard?"

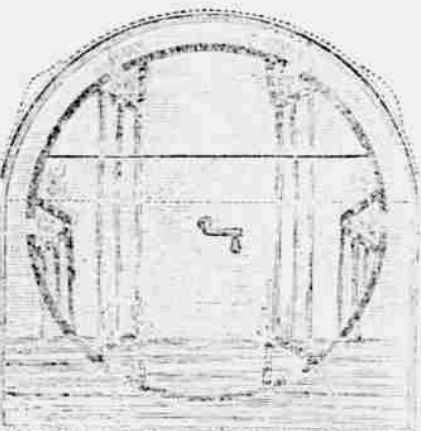

After some hesitancy he replied: "Maybe a man's fist is as hard as a brass knuckle, some men's are."

Considerable space is given to this matter as we consider that a charge of an assault with brass knuckles is too libelous and serious to pass unnoticed.

Any man who after shutting us up in a small room and forcing a row upon us, does not think that he has had a fair show can have another chance under any other conditions he may choose to name.

A CHINESE EXTERMINATOR.

A Washing Machine that Sends Them Kiting.

H. H. Tuttle's new combination washer is now on exhibition at Cires's Hotel. It is a new washing machine that enables people to do their own washing and at slight expense. The machine is the invention of Mr. Tuttle and is designed to fill a want occasioned all through the Country by the Chinese exodus.

The machine is a compact, neat and very durable steam chest, that is placed as a common boiler on top of your stove; this chest contains a hollow wheel that is held in proper position by a strong cast cylinder to which is attached a common crank; the top of the chest is covered over by a neat half circular tin cover hiding from view the hollow wheel and also confining the steam. The hollow wheel is capacious enough to admit of placing from 15 to 20 articles of the size of shirts or sheets into it to be washed at once. The outer rim of this wheel is formed by a series of half circular tubes, inverted so as to form on the inside of the wheel a corrugated surface. The inverted tubes are perforated so that steam or water can readily pass from the steam chest into the hollow wheel. On the outer edge of the inverted tubes are water cups. Now, the operator, by gently turning the crank causes a continuous rotary motion and (slightly oscillating) forces the steam and hot water from steam chest through perforated tubes into the hollow wheel, the rotary motion of which causes the water cups to elevate sufficient hot water from the steam chest to keep a perfect shower of hot water (that is strong and constant in its action) on the clothes that are confined in the wheel, thus giving a continuous constant and uniform pressure of hot water and steam from both top and bottom. The two agents, both water and steam, being thus advantageously arranged and also taken in connection with a continuous and changeable movement of the clothes against the series of corrugations on the inside surface of the wheel, cannot fail to thoroughly cleanse and dissipate all dirt and foreign substances from the texture of any fabric.

A child of ten can do a washing with this machine in an hour and not feel the work. They are being sold all over California, and are fast driving the Chinese to the wall.

In Suisun over 60 machines were sold in two months and out of six Chinese wash houses four went out of business. It is proposed to introduce it in this State. It will do more to root out the Chinese than all other agencies combined.

Change of Route.

The Grand Marshal of the 4th of July parade has changed the line of march from Division to Minneseta street, so as to bring the line of parade past the Governor's residence. This was omitted through an oversight in mapping out the original programme, and changed as soon as the defect was noticed. This is the proper compliment to pay to the Executive office, and is concurred in by all good citizens.

De Ladies and Men.

As city merchants we not only offer to out-of-town customers important advantages in prices, but goods and styles fresh and new from the leading markets of Europe and America.

We send CATALOGUES and SAMPLES FREE, and spare no pains to thoroughly suit those who entrust their orders to us. All goods are selected from our general stock, and are the same in style and price as those for city trade.

Thousands of customers all over the coast attest the skill, taste, discretion and care displayed in this branch of our work, as well as the great benefit and satisfaction thereby derived.

Those who have never ordered goods from us by mail should give this system a test. It will pay.
